

Investing for income: The equity edition

May 17, 2019

Historically, dividends have been a significant component of equity returns. But the highest yielding stocks may not be best choice.

Dividends don't contribute as much to total return as price appreciation in an extended bull market. But in a more normal environment, income — in the form of dividends — is a significant component of equity returns. Watch as Chief Portfolio Strategist Ed Kerschner explains why he believes investors should look for stocks with potential for dividend growth and a relatively low risk of a dividend being cut.

Edward Kerschner
Chief Portfolio Strategist

Watch the video at:

<https://www.columbiathreadneedleus.com/blog/investing-for-income-the-equity-edition>

Download Transcript

To find out more, call 800.426.3750
or visit columbiathreadneedle.com

Not FDIC insured • No bank guarantee • May lose value

Securities products offered through Columbia Management Investment Distributors, Inc., member FINRA. Advisory services provided by Columbia Management Investment Advisers, LLC.

Columbia Threadneedle Investments (Columbia Threadneedle) is the global brand name of the Columbia and Threadneedle group of companies.

The views expressed are as of the date given, may change as market or other conditions change and may differ from views expressed by other Columbia Management Investment Advisers, LLC (CMIA) associates or affiliates. Actual investments or investment decisions made by CMIA and its affiliates, whether for its own account or on behalf of clients, may not necessarily reflect the views expressed. This information is not intended to provide investment advice and does not take into consideration individual investor circumstances. Investment decisions should always be made based on an investor's specific financial needs, objectives, goals, time horizon and risk tolerance. Asset classes described may not be suitable for all investors. Past performance does not guarantee future results, and no forecast should be considered a guarantee either. Since economic and market conditions change frequently, there can be no assurance that the trends described here will continue or that any forecasts are accurate.