Past performance is not a guarantee of future results. Returns reflect the reinvestment of income and capital gains and are calculated and stated in US dollars, and periods over one year are annualized. Pure gross of fees performance does not include trading costs, management fees, or other expenses that would be incurred by a participant portfolio, but does reflect the expenses of any underlying fund and ETF investments. Net of fees performance reflects deduction of the maximum annual wrap fee of 3%. Investors should contact their financial advisor or program sponsor for fees applicable to their account.

Investing involves risk including the risk of loss of principal. There is no guarantee the objective will be achieved or that any return expectations will be met.

Diversification does not guarantee against loss.

The Russell 1000 Growth Index is an unmanaged index that measures the performance of those Russell 1000 Index companies with higher price-to-book ratios and higher forecasted growth values. It is not possible to invest directly in an index.

† vs Russell 1000 Growth

Investment risks — Market risk may affect a single issuer, sector of the economy, industry or the market as a whole. Generally, large-cap companies are more mature and have limited growth potential compared to smaller companies. In addition, large companies may not be able to adapt as easily to changing market conditions, potentially resulting in lower overall performance compared to the broader securities markets during different market cycle. Growth securities, at times, may not perform as well as value securities or the stock market in general and may be out of favor with investors. The strategy may invest significantly in issuers within a particular sector, which may be negatively affected by market, economic or other conditions, making the strategy more vulnerable to unfavorable developments in the sector.
